About the Conference

The Conference aims to foster interdisciplinary collaboration and innovation across various research domains. Scheduled for 5th and 6th March, 2026, in Tangla College, Udalguri district will provide a platform for researchers, educators, industrialist, entrepreneurs, professionals and practitioners from different disciplines to exchange ideas, present cutting-edge research, and discuss advancements in multi-disciplinary approaches. The objectives include promoting cross-disciplinary knowledge sharing, identifying emerging trends, and exploring practical applications of research findings to address global challenges in business, societal development and enhance educational practices, cultural exchanges, language, holistic and sustainable development.

Holistic and sustainable development has emerged as the guiding principle for long-term global and regional prosperity, challenging traditional economic models that prioritize profit over social and environmental well-being. A truly holistic approach ensures that progress in one area does not come at the expense of another.

Achieving "Viksit Bharat 2047" involves a multifaceted strategy including boosting the economy through reforms and investment, developing advanced infrastructure, and leveraging technology and innovation. Key steps include economic, governance, and industrial reforms; enhanced education and healthcare; and promoting sustainability and social empowerment.

Ultimately, success depends on coordinated national and state-level action, private sector involvement, and the contribution of all citizens through efforts like supporting "Made in India" products and innovation. Based on the latest reports (2023-24 NER District SDG Index), the North Eastern states have shown significant improvement, with 85% of districts now classified as "Front Runners" in Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). However, the region still requires development in key areas, primarily infrastructure, social services (education, healthcare), and economic opportunities.

Cross-border trade and investment in Northeast India are growing, with the region leveraging its strategic location to connect with Bangladesh, Myanmar, Bhutan, and other Southeast Asian nations through its Act East Policy. Trade with Myanmar and Bhutan is also significant, though some of it happens through border points outside the Northeast region.

The conference will also serve as a critical forum to understand, analyze, and interrogate the situation, process, and policy aspects of sustainable development at global, national, and regional levels, including the unique context of the North Eastern Region. The deliberations and insights from this gathering are intended to culminate in a collection of research papers to be published by reputed international publishers, thereby significantly benefiting policymakers, corporate leaders, and academicians in their respective domains of work and commitment.

About Tangla College

Tangla College came into existence in the year 1970 as a result of sincere and untiring efforts of some of the leading personalities of the northern part of the undivided Darrang District of Assam. The college has spacious green campus offering degree courses- BA, B.COM, B.Sc and BCA affiliated to Bodoland University. The college has been selected for upgradation to a Model Degree College by the Govt. India under Rashtriya Uchchatar Siksha Abhiyan (RUSA), Phase - 0.1. Tangla College has been enjoying grants from UGC under 2(F) & 12(B) scheme since its recognition under the 8th Plan; received RUSA Grant under Upgradation of Existing Degree Colleges to Modern Colleges through RUSA -0.1 during 2015-16 to 2019-20. In 2004, the College had one more feather in its cap when the National Accreditation and Assessment Council (NAAC), after proper verification of facts, awarded 'B' Grade to the College.

Tangla College has celebrated its Golden Jubilee in February, 2025. It has been engaged in extra co-curricular activities such as conducting seminars and workshops, NSS, NCC, literary and cultural activities, games and sports, etc.

The College has a brilliant group of teachers of whom some are First Class Degree holders. A good number of teachers possess Ph.D. and M.Phil. Degrees and some more are carrying research works under U.G.C. and ICSSR sponsored schemes. Some of the teachers in humanities are regularly contributing articles, stories to magazines and newspapers. They have quite a number of published books to their credit. Most of the teachers are the members of their respective professional bodies.
